The Joint-Meeting having thought proper to instruct the Delegates of this State in Congress, the following Instructions having been read and approved, were transmitted to the said Delegates, viz.

The COUNCIL and ASSEMBLY of the State of New-Jersey, in Joint-Meeting,

To the Honourable John Witherspoon, Abraham Clark, Jonathan Elmer, Nathaniel Scudder, and Elias Boudinot, Esquires, and to each and every of you.

WE have called you to the important and interesting Service of representing this State in the Congress of the United States of North America. A higher Proof cannot be given of the Confidence we repose in your Abilities and Integrity; and we rest assured, your best Endeavours will at all Times be exerted to promote the Freedom, Independence and Happiness of the whole Union, particularly of that Part to which you stand in more immediate Relation.

Numerous and diversified as the Objects of your Attention will be, we attempt not to point out either the Line, or the Extent of your Mission. Keep in constant View the Cause of your Delegation, and let all your Conduct be directed to the general Good and the Prosperity of your Country. We cannot, however, omit the following Particulars, suggested by the present Posture of Affairs, and to which we require you carefully to attend.

First, We hope you will habitually bear in Mind, that the Success of the great Cause in which the United States are engaged, depends upon the Favour and Blessing of Almighty God, and therefore you will neglect Nothing which is competent to the Assembly of the States for promoting Piety and good Morals among the People at Large: But especially we desire that you may give Attention to this Circumstance in the Government of the Army, taking care that such of the Articles of War as forbid Prophaneness, Riot and Debauchery, be observed and enforced with all due Strictness and Severity; this we apprehend is absolutely necessary for the Encouragement and Maintenance of good Discipline, and will be a Means of recruiting the Army with Men of Credit and Principle; an Object ardently to be wished, but not to be expected if the warmest Friends of their Country should be deterred from sending their Sons and Connections into the Service, lest they should be tainted with impious and immoral Notions, and contract vicious Habits.

Second, We have no Doubt that, as Guardians of the State of New-Jersey, you will be particularly attentive to its Interest, but we also expect you will be watchful to guard against every Thing which will be hurtful to the general Union, or injurious to the common Interests of the United States. Extinguish by all Means in your Power, the least Appearance of Jealousy in its earliest Rise, discountenance all local and partial Reflections in every Instance, and reprove by your Example, and suppress as far as your Authority extends, Party-Feuds and Factions, be the Offenders who they may.

Third,

Third, Let the Wants of the Soldiery be amply supplied, and due Provision made for their Health and Comfort; and as we think this can be done, so we wish it always may in such a Manner as to guard the Civil Rights of the People against Military Encroachments, and the arbitrary Oppression of Officers of the Army, or of Persons employed in the Commissary's, Quartermaster's, or Hospital Departments. We contemplate with Concern the slightest Appearance of such an Evil, and wish you to take proper Pains to prevent it. This State is forwardly disposed to use every Exertion in Behalf of their Troops, and as far as can reasonably be expected of the Army in general; but we desire when a Requisition for this Effect is necessary, it may be seasonably made, without waiting till the very Hour of Necessity, when it is impossible to take due and legal Means of complying with it, so as to answer any good Purpose.

Fourth, We desire you may be cautious of multiplying Offices, or the Number of the Officers, in the several Continental Departments, and thereby unnecessarily increasing the publick Expence; especially you will use your utmost Influence that these Departments be filled with Men of Probity, Principle and Discretion, well qualified in Point of Capacity, and of unsuspected Attachment to the Liberties of America. We need not urge the Reasons of calling your Attention to this Object, they are daily before your Eyes.

Fifth, We recommend the immediate compleating of the Establishment for wounded and disabled Soldiers and Seamen, by extending it to the Militia in the Continental Service, and making some Provision for the Widows and Children of those who fall in Battle or die in the Service, whether in the Regular or Militia Troops. The Necessity of a Law in this, as well as the several States in the Union, grounded upon such Establishment, requires that it be attended to as speedily as possible.

Sixth, You are to take the earliest Opportunity of having some effectual Mode adopted for negotiating the Exchange of Citizens and civil Prisoners, no adequate Provision being, as we conceive, made for this End in the Cartel now subsisting: Numbers of Civil Citizens, Inhabitants and Subjects of this State, now in Captivity, and we doubt not the Case is similar in other States where the Operations of War have extended, not being taken in Arms, and therefore not within the Description of Prisoners of War, are languishing in Gaols and Chains under the Power of the Enemy, without the Means or Hope of Relief: As their Sufferings are in Consequence of their Zeal and Activity in the common Cause, they are entitled to the most vigorous Exertions of their Country in their Behalf.

Seventh, The great Irregularities and Abuses which have been and continue to be committed in this State, and probably in others where the Army hath been or now is, by the impressing Horses, Teams and Carriages, and taking Provisions, Forage and Fuel, for the Troops on March or in Camp, and in delaying, neglecting or totally refusing Payment, upon the Application of the Inhabitants with their Receipts or Certificates to those whose Duty it is to make Satisfaction, have given Rise to such universal Uneasiness and Complaint, that it cannot have escaped your Notice. The ill Consequences of such a Grievance, not only to Individuals, but to the Cause in general are so obvious, we need only remind you of it, and desire you would use your Endeavours to procure a speedy Remedy.

Eighth, We wish you to consider, whether it may not be advisable and even necessary that Congress digest and recommend to the several States some general Plan for a Treason Law, lest Inconveniences and Difficulties shall arise from such Laws, being drawn in different Forms, and settled on different Principles, either as to the Crime, or Penalty in the different States; and particularly that Treason against the Union may be properly described, and the Punishment thereof suitably defined. Such a general Foundation being once laid, the Law can be varied and accommodated, if necessary, to the local and special Circumstances of each State, without substantially departing from it.

Ninth, That your Attendance on the Duties of your Appointment may be the more easy and convenient, and that you may have Leisure and Opportunity occasionally to attend to your domestic Concerns, from which otherwise you must have been totally abstracted, we have made the Representation to consist of five, some three to be constantly present in Congress, unless when precluded by unavoidable Accident. And that the State may not be put to unnecessary Expence, not more than three are to attend at the same Time.

By Order of the Joint-Meeting,

Princeton, December 4, 1777.

JOHN STEVENS, Chairman.

GENTLEMEN,

THE repeated Testimonies which the Representatives of this State have given of the Confidence they repose in me by electing me to so important an Office, cannot but excite the warmest Acknowledgment, nor fail of affecting, with the most agreeable Sensations, every Man who esteems the favourable Sentiments of the People as the highest Honour that can be acquired in a free and virtuous Republick.

The Legislature may depend upon my making the publick Interest the grand Object of my most assiduous Attention; and I shall, in my Turn, rely on their Ingenuoufness and Candour, to make all reasonable Allowances for involuntary Errors, and the Want of superior Abilities, as well as on their more particular Protection at a Time when vilifying or misrepresenting the Conduct of publick Officers, is become the wretched Artifice of a desperate Faction, and the Arrows of Obloquy are industriously levelled at every partialistick Character, that vigorously exerts itself against the Malignant and Disaffected.
